In the fall of 1983 Winbrook introduced our Document Management Program, which has become one of the most successful programs in the country.

As the architect of the program, one of my responsibilities was vendor selection, and my first choice was Technical Publications.

This selection has developed into a 23-year relationship, which now qualifies as a partnership to service our clients.

I have been in the business forms industry for 41 years and the quality people at Technical Publications beginning with Jim and Diana at the top are as good as it gets.

Following is a partial list of services provided my company by Technical Publications.

- 1 – Personal Service
- 2 – Attention to Detail
- 3 – Quality Printed Products
- 4 – Complete artwork and graphic design services.
- 5 – Commitment to prompt delivery including rush orders when necessary.
- 6 – Proper packaging, which is very important in Document Management.

Solid business relationships are built on trust and Technical Publications is my most trusted vendor.

I would suggest that anyone visiting this site, give this company an opportunity.
